THE GARDENS OF INTERNATIONAL MUSEUM OF THE PERFUMERY

MOUANS-SARTOUX

Welcome to the plant world fragrant

Centifolia rose, jasmine, tuberose, lavender, geranium, broom, orange blossom... perfumes are born first and foremost in plants, from here or elsewhere.

In the unique setting of the MIP Gardens, on a Spanning 2.7 hectares, you will discover the species that have provided the precious raw materials for perfumery for centuries. The visit can be self-guided or guided.

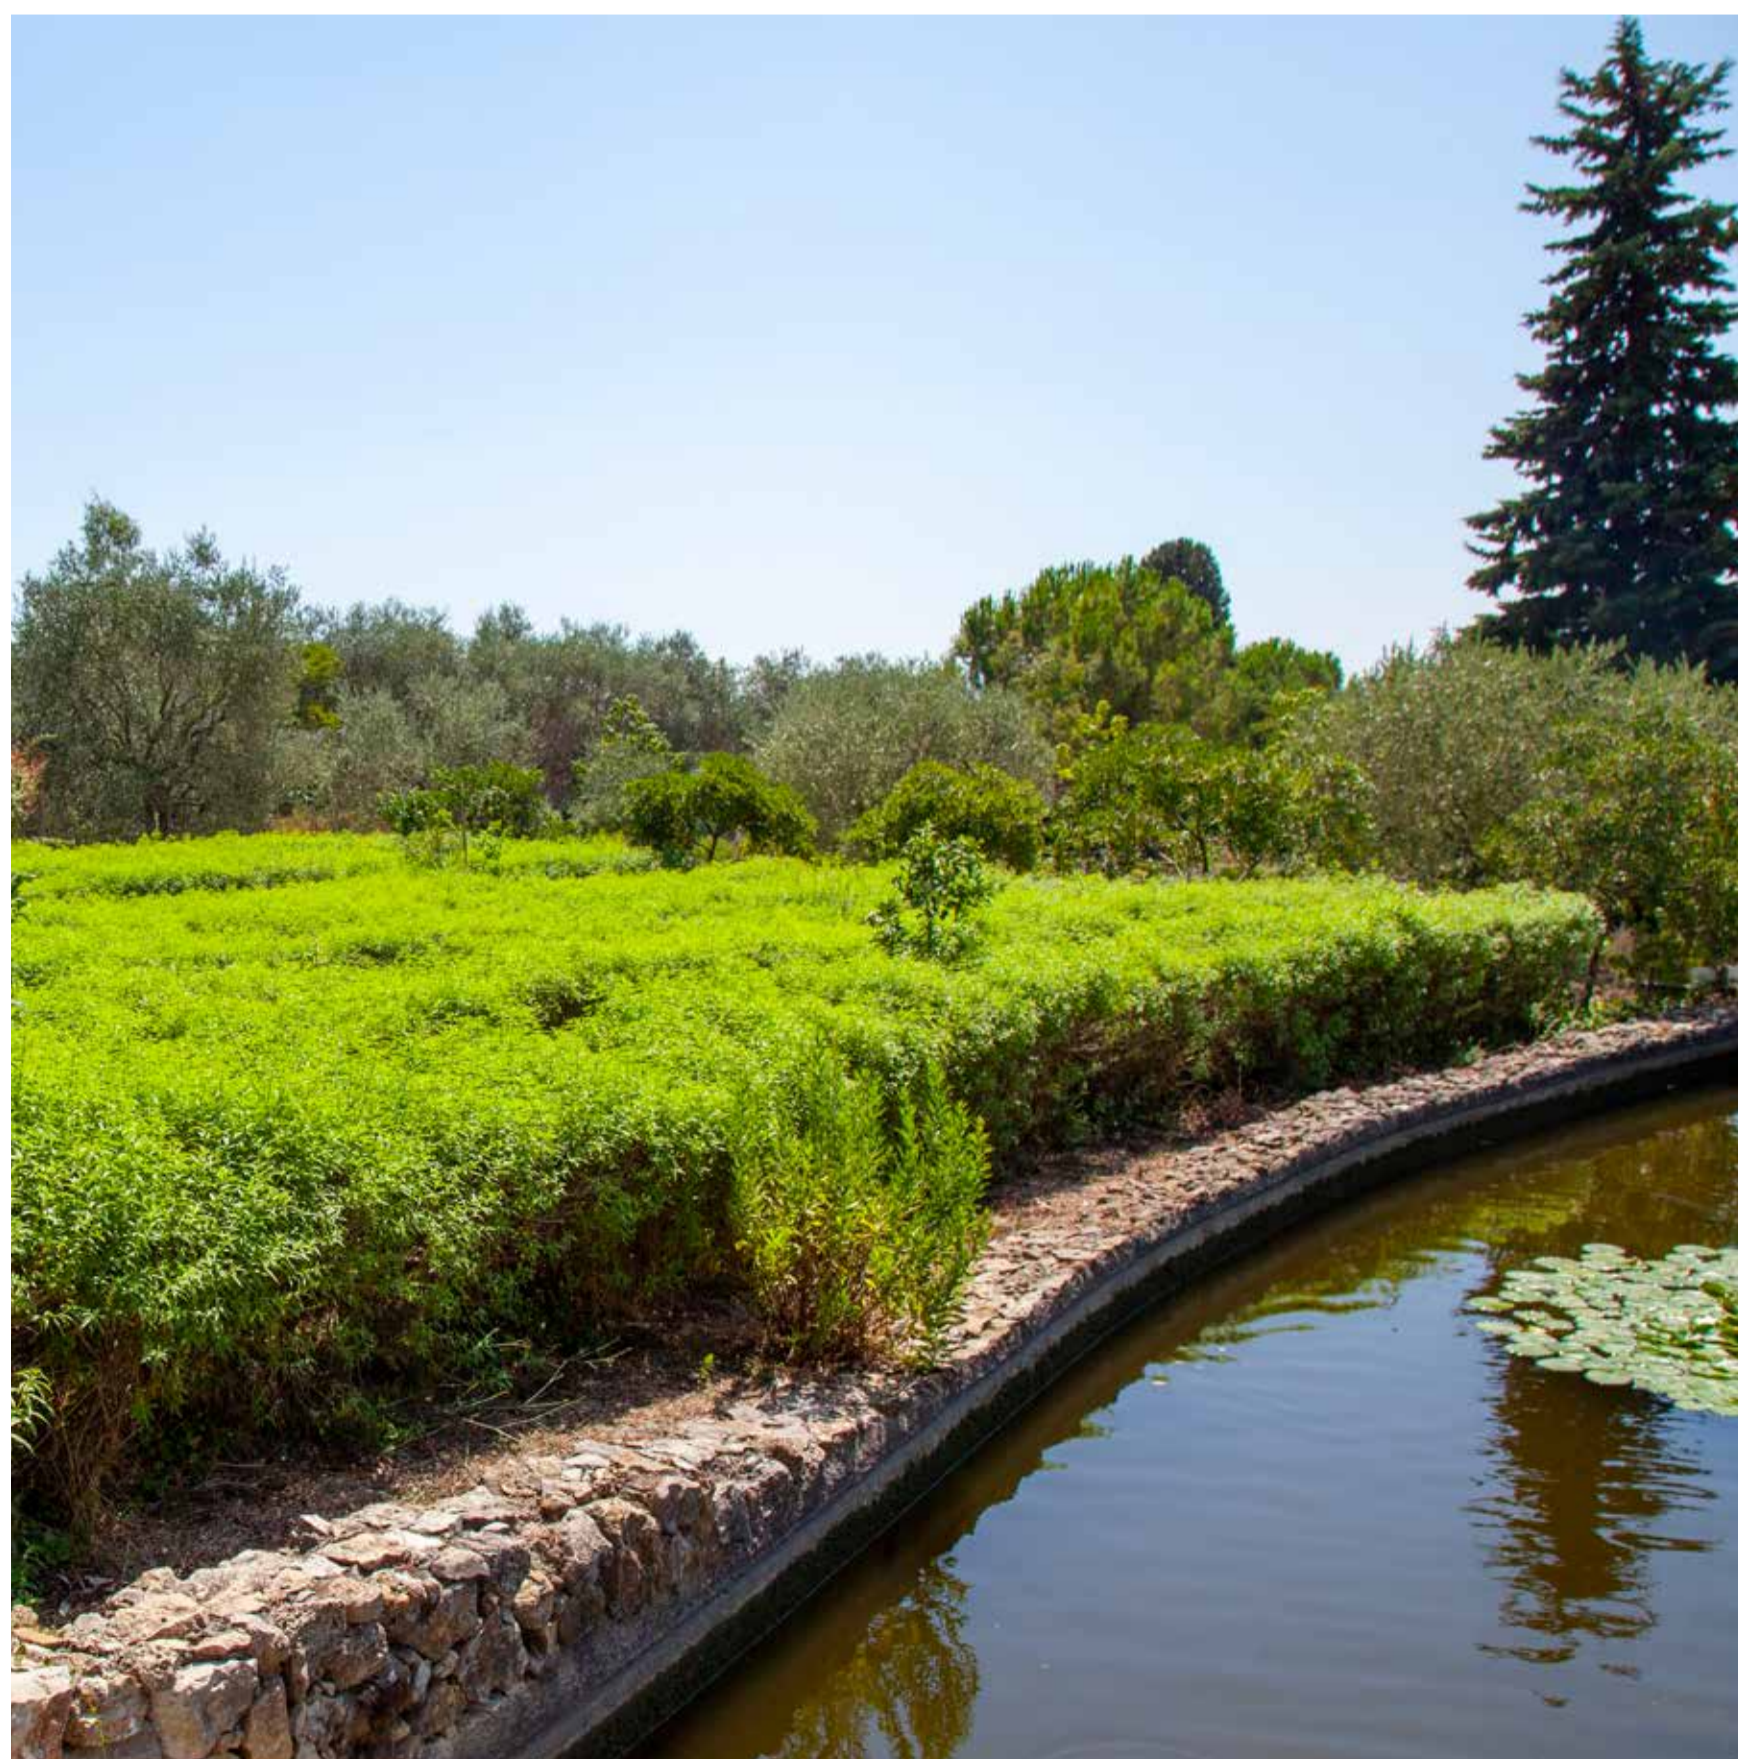

THE MIP GARDENS

The Gardens are an ideal place to discover the history of perfumery through fragrant plants. Carefully laid out, its gardens feature different plots, arranged with plants and decorated with fountains and sculptures, making it a peaceful and pleasant place for a stroll.

OUR OPINION RIVIERA LOISIRS

A Garden outstanding

Enjoy a stroll through the plots, looking at, touching, and smelling the plants. For each species, a sign explains its history, origin, and use in perfumery. Experience this as if you were choosing the fragrances for your new perfume.

A visit olfactory

The plants in the MIP garden are classified by olfactory families: floral, woody, fruity, spicy, or herbaceous. Throughout the garden, approach each plot to smell the different scents by running your hand through the plants. These various species serve as inspiration for perfumers, and many are used in perfumes.

A refuge for animals and insects

Thanks to management practices that promote biodiversity, many animals find an ideal habitat and thrive there. A multitude of species coexist, such as bees, dragonflies, and butterflies. Birds also have their place there.

You might spot blue tits or turtle doves. The canal that bisects the garden is home to a rich biodiversity: amphibians, reptiles...

Peaceful place

100% organic

In this peaceful and pleasant setting, the MIP Gardens invite you to extend the experience by picnicking in the shade of the pergolas or relaxing on deck chairs.

The MIP Gardens are 100% organic. No harmful chemicals are used to preserve biodiversity. The gardeners maintain the grounds with respect for nature.
